Philosophy of Education Association of Nigeria (PEAN)

33RD ANNUAL INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

October 21st -25th, 2013

@

University of Ibadan International Conference
Centre, Ibadan,
Oyo state

Theme:

Philosophy of Education for Social Ethics

Discourses on government policies, programmes and activities have been leveraging on the fact that education is an instrument for development without sufficient exposition on how education through its philosophy can be used for social transformation.

There have been continuing efforts by world organisations like the United Nations in globalising morality. The national, state and local governments in Nigeria have also made attempts to promote justice and peace. Despite these efforts, violence, conflict, war, abortion, same sex marriages, capital punishment, cloning, euthanasia, poverty, national debts and environmental problems confront societies in varied degrees.

More than ever before, human societies are in search of deeper meanings into the day to day experiences of social problems. Education for social ethics creates the platform for probing social issues on the endemic problems of our world and the Nigerian society in particular.

This year's PEAN conference with the theme Philosophy of Education for Social Ethics intends to engage all stakeholders in education on the relationship which exists between education as well as its philosophy and social ethics.
